Global NCD Framework: Fulfilling Commitments and Delivering Outcomes

The 2011 Political Declaration and resolutions at the World Health Assembly since then have helped facilitate a process to put in place the elements of a global NCD framework.

Three elements form the global NCD framework, and are all connected: the global monitoring framework, including nine global targets, are the vision for what we want to achieve by 2025; the Global NCD Action Plan 2013-2020 provides the roadmap for achieving that vision; and the global coordination mechanism (GCM) will mobilise multisectoral action and resources to implement the plan.

Global Monitoring Framework (GMF) for NCDs

In November 2012, Member States formally agreed a comprehensive set of nine global voluntary targets, including the landmark "25 by 25" mortality reduction target, and 25 indicators. These targets - a balance between prevention and treatment - herald new political vision, priority, and accountability for NCDs.

Global Action Plan for NCDs 2013-2020 (GAP)

After a lengthy consultation process, the Global Action Plan for NCDs 2013-2020 (GAP) was formally agreed at the World Health Assembly in May 2013 [2].

It has six objectives, and includes proposed actions for the WHO Secretariat, Member States, and International Partners (which includes NGOs/civil society). The GAP 2013-2020 provides a roadmap for action by all stakeholders to achieve the NCD targets and prevent and control NCDs at all levels.

Global Coordination Mechanism for NCDs

The establishment of a mechanism to bring together all relevant stakeholders to coordinate joint action on NCDs is critical to deliver on the Global Action Plan 2013-2020, to reduce NCD deaths by 25% by 2025, and to fulfil the commitments made by Member States in the 2011 Political Declaration.
