The first ever World Lung Day on 25th September [1] will provide an advocacy platform for people affected by and working against respiratory disease around the world to breathe life into the fight for respiratory health. FIRS launched the World Charter for Lung Health [2] and is inviting individuals and organisations to sign on to this pledge to support clean air and lung health. FIRS aims to get 100,000 signatories and use the charter to rally activities around the world to reduce lung disease.

Please sign up (HERE [2]), and share this call for action with your professional, advocacy, and social networks and those of your friends and families to do your part as global citizens to have a world where no struggles to breathe.
