ITU and WHO launch mHealth initiative to combat noncommunicable diseases

'The International Telecommunication Union (ITU) and WHO today launched a new partnership called the 'mHealth' Initiative to use mobile technology, in particular text messaging and apps, to help combat noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) such as diabetes, cancer, cardiovascular diseases and chronic respiratory diseases.'- WHO News Release

For the official release please click here [1]

Source: WHO

Post Date: Thursday, 18 October, 2012

Source URL: https://ncdalliance.org/news-events/news/itu-and-who-launch-mhealth-initiative-to-combat-noncommunicable-diseases

Links
[1] http://www.who.int/mediacentre/news/releases/2012/mHealth_20121017/en/index.html