Public health advocates speak out against ultra-processed food industry in Mexico.

National and regional alliances between organisations in the field of non-communicable diseases have joined forces around the world to advocate to governments, provide education and patient support, and to raise awareness of the growing NCD burden. As a globally connected network, alliances are instrumental in advocating for better policies to address NCD management and prevention across relevant sectors.

Below is a list of NCD alliances and CSO coalitions that the NCD Alliance is aware of that are working in the NCD space in their respective countries and regions. Please note the alliances listed below are not formally affiliated to the NCD Alliance. If you know of, or are interested in joining or creating a national NCD alliance in your country, please contact us [1].
