Civil Society Status Reports

© MSH: "Runs and win for Health" is a game that promotes healthy behaviors to improve child nutrition and thus contribute to the eradication of poverty.

Language English

Civil Society Status Reports (CSSR) are a form of civil society monitoring, with the aim of understanding national/regional responses to NCDs and assessing them from a civil society perspective. In 2014-2015, each partner developed a CSSR on NCDs, drawing upon the NCD Alliance benchmarking tool. Through the CSSR process, partners identify advocacy priorities.

Related Resource: Healthy Caribbean Coalition Civil Society Regional Status Report - Responses to NCDs in the Caribbean Community [1]
South African Civil Society Status Report 2010- 2015 [2]
Civil Society Report on the Situation of Chronic Non-Communicable Diseases in Brazil [3]
A civil society benchmark report: Responses to NCDs in East Africa [4]
Panel Image Link: https://ncdalliance.org/sites/default/files/resource_files/HCC%20NCDA%20RSR%20FINAL.pdf
Panel Image Link Text: [Responses to NCDs in the Caribbean Community, pdf]

Source URL: https://ncdalliance.org/what-we-do/global-accountability/civil-society-status-reports

Links
[1] https://ncdalliance.org/resources/healthy-caribbean-coalition-civil-society-regional-status-report-responses-to-ncds-in-the-caribbean-community
[2] https://ncdalliance.org/resources/south-african-civil-society-status-report-2010-2015
[3] https://ncdalliance.org/resources/civil-society-report-on-the-situation-of-chronic-non-communicable-diseases-in-brazil

[4] https://ncdalliance.org/resources/a-civil-society-benchmark-report-responses-to-ncds-in-east-africa